A FORMER miner who had worked in the industry for more than 40 years died after suffering complications following surgery. Elias Turner, aged 88, of Green Lane, Rugeley, was known to have pneumoconiosis and emphysema. He was admitted to Stafford Hospital on October 27 with abdominal pain and vomiting. A CT scan showed he had an obstruction of the small bowel likely to have been caused by scar tissue from surgery for an ulcer. Following an operation to remove the adhesions he died on November 5. "I hope to see some of these in London competing at the Olympics next year or perhaps in Rio in 2016."

The council has granted nearly £16,000 in total, £380 per athlete, to spend on travel, accommodation and equipment to help them make the most of their talents.

Arjan Drayton-Chana, aged 17, from Heath Hayes was rewarded for his ability in hockey after being selected for England under 18s, as was 15-vear-old Robbie Gleeson from Lichfield.

Danny Eales died last Friday night (April 8) in Tipton Road, Sedgley, when the Honda Civic he was travelling in smashed into a wall before spinning across the carriageway and coming to rest after hitting a set of traffic lights.

Three other people in the car suffered serious injuries.

Originally from Tamworth, Danny, of Summit Place, Gornal Wood, Dudley, worked for Cannock-based firm ID Maintenance, where he travelled the country fixing lights and repairing roofs at petrol stations.

His manager Dave Murphy described him as a "lovely lad and a wonderful person".

Mr Murphy, aged 50, who was his manager for two-and-a-half years, and had known him for around six years, said everyone was in shock at hearing the news.

"You wouldn't find anyone who had a bad word to say about him. He will just be so missed by everyone at ID Maintenance, his family and friends," he said.

Mr Murphy, who works for the firm in West Street, said the 24-year-old was a hard worker who would always be willing to work weekends in his hectic job.

"He wasn't the greatest in getting up in the morning, but once he did he would keep on going. He would just work so hard, even on weekends he would be willing to work," he

At the weekend, a memorial event was held by his friends in Flood Street, Dudley.
They set off Chinese lanterns and shared memories of a man they labelled "one of the nicest

STUDENTS in Cannock have produced a DVD documentary which follows new band Taking Hayley.

The fly-on-the-wall documentary was produced by second year BTEC National media students at the Progress Centre, Cannock campus of South Staffordshire College.

South Staffordshire College team leader John Wilson said the students were asked to produce the music DVD as evidence of two units of their media course.

He added: "It has allowed us to gain experience in team and project management, developing technical skills, making contacts within the music/entertainment industry and giving us real life experience in media production."

Students followed the five members of Taking Hayley for several months and produced hours of footage for the documentary, which tells the story of the Birmingham based rock and pop band and features some of their performances.

The Taking Hayley management team said: "Working with South Staffs College was a great experience and letting them take a peek into our world was a good laugh, "We're really happy with the end result and

Killer to die in jail as bid for freedom ends

CHILD killer Raymond Morris has scrapped plans to take his case to the European Court of Human Rights and will die in jail. CHILD killer Raymond Morris has scrapped plans to take his case to the European Court of Human Rights and will die in jail. Morris legal team confirmed last weekend that his bid for freedom had ended. Morris was considering making an application to Strasbourg after his bid for an appeal was rejected at London's Royal Courts of Justice in February. But Cheryl Kirk, spokesman for solicitors Norrie Waite & Slater, confirmed he killer had given up on his fight for freedom. It means he will die behind bars. "It was the plan to go to the European Court of Human Rights and there were discussions about that, but it has come to an end," she said.

Morris, a serving prisoner at HMP Wymott in Preston, has been in jail for 42 years for the murder of seven-year-old Walsall schoolgir! Christine Darby in 1967. He is also the prime suspect in the killings of Margaret Reynolds of Aston in Birmingham and Diane Tift from Bloxwich, found on Cannock Chase.

The divorced father-of-two, who used to live in Green Lane. Walsall, was said to be "extremely disappointed" with the outcome of the rulling in February.

Morris's legal team spent seven years reviewing his 1969 conviction but the independent Criminal Cases Review Commission rejected his bid for an appeal in June.

The former engineer's solicitors then secured a judicial review of that decision – buh his claim was rejected by Mr Justice Simon at the Royal Courts on February 7.

The killer's appeal was based on his claims there was evidence of alleged police misconduct in respect to his conviction. The cases of five-year-old Diane and six-year-old Margaret remain on file.

Brothers curry favour with village diners-out

The interior of the Village Lodge, Cheslyn Hay

UNTIL three years ago, there was nowhere for people in Cheslyn Hay to stop off for a curry.

Nowadays, it is not just these villagers that enjoy the delights of the Village Lodge.

The restaurant in High Street is so-called as it is a former coach house. More recently it was a booking office for Parrys coach tours, becoming a sandwich shop and cafe before being transformed into Cheslyn Hay's first restaurant.

office for Parrys coach tours, becoming a successful and cafe before being transformed into Cheslyn Hay's first restaurant.

Brothers Rakib and Yaqub Mohammed run the eatery, which seats around 60 people, following their father in the trade. He ran restaurants in Caldmore, Walsall, and word of his reputation has obviously spread as many of his old customers now frequent the Village Lodge.

Even on a quieter midweek night, my partner and I saw just how busy the Village Lodge could be – and just why it is building up regular clientele.

The restaurant is neatly set out, with adequate space for diners to enjoy a quiet meal for two, or for party bookings. The menu is extensive with traditional dishes to go alongside the tandoori mains and the Village Lodge collection. Extra dishes are set to follow with more fusion foods and fish curries from Bangladesh.

"We always listen to what the customer wants," Rakib said.
"Even if something is not on the menu, we are happy to serve it if is what they ask for."

I was asked if I wanted my mild, fruity dish, Mitali chicken, made spicier.

The first thing that hit me when the food was brought out was how delicious it smelled. A creamy dish served with a peshwari naan, it tasted just as good. Sharon's choice was butter chicken in masala sauce, with fresh cream and butter, a mushroom naan and rice. It earned another thumbs-up and was still good for tea the following night.

A Rugeley company is now offering the chance to realise that dream. Chris Smith and Paul Ayre have set up Tank Driving UK. They own two ex British Army tanks, a fV432 and a Stalwart, which can be driven around a one-and-a half mile off road track.

The company hopes to appeal to children's parties, stag and hen parties, corporate days or simply the individual looking for a thrill.

Just being driven in the tank is an experience in itself. The roof is open so you can stick your head out and see where you are going, and the tank doesn't struggle with anything – rolling hills and mut tracks alike are eaten up in its path.

The experience is open to children from five to be driven around, while Chris and Paul will accept drivers from as young as 12 to offer them the experience of a lifetime.

Sitting in the cockpit of the tank is nerve-racking. With a wide variety of switches, levers and pedals jst

Trust launches bid to raise £30,000 for platform

Walk on water for boardwalk appeal

THE Staffordshire Wildlife Trust has launched an urgent appeal to raise £30,000 to replace an ageing walkway.

The 20-year-old raised platform attracts more than 50,000 visitors every year and weaves above pools, streams and marshland at the Trust's Wolseley Centre.

It overlooks water-based wildlife like kingfishers, frogs and giant gunnera plants.

A grant of around £30,000 has already been received from the Staffordshire Aggregates Levy Grant Scheme, but the Trust must fund the remainder of the £60,000 total itself or what they've named their Walk on Water appeal.

Regular visitor Sue Allen, from Downesway, Cannock said she often used the boardwalk along with her husband and three grandchildren.

"It's great because it brings you closer to nature and you can see lots of different wildlife while you're on it." Broom the said. "It is really well used and because it is flat it's good for the elderly and wheelchair users."

Groups, businesses or individuals can become a Boardwalk Benefactor by donating £250 or more to the cause.

They will receive a special plaque at the special plaqu

The details of Yes2Travel's Summer 2012 Escorted Cruise have just been released. Penny, proprietor of Yes2Travel, and co-host of the cruise, said, "In 2012 we will be sampling the intimacy and friendliness of a smaller cruise ship when we sail on Fred Olsen Cruise Lines' Braemar. The itinerary we have chosen is a fascinating adventure to Norway's Fjords and the North Cape. The cruise departs on Thursday 14th June 2012 for 13 nights, and one of the highlights will be experiencing 'The Land of the Midnight Sun', where the sun never fully sets. As in previous years we will be providing complimentary private coach transportation to and from Braemar's home port of Dover, with pick-up points in Chasetown & Hednesford, and a private cocktail party onboard for our guests. We usually add a little extra surprise or arrange a special excursion whilst we are there, but that is still under wraps for now!"

Penny's husband and co-host, Ian added, "The cruise ship Braemar is a small ship by todays standards, just 24,000 tonnes, and sails with a little over 900 guests. She was extensively re-fitted in 2008 with new cabins and facilities added, and has proved very popular with Fred Olsen's repeat guests. We are very excited about hosting the group on Braemar, and are sure that the fact almost all passengers are British, and that Sterling is the currency onboard, will prove very reassuring. Our escorted cruise has always been very popular with both past and new to cruise guests, with places on our complimentary coach transport always filling very fast. I would recommend anyone who is interested getting in touch with us as soon as possible to ensure their place and their choice of cabins."

Penny also commented about Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines 'No Surcharge Guarantee' which has just been announced for 2012 sailings, she said, "This is a great advantage for our group cruise, it will give guests peace of mind and reassurance that the price they book at now will not be affected by the ever increasing cost of fuel."

A CANNOCK fatherof-two has always poured out his heart in poetry.
Now Brian Elliott's efforts have been published in a book entitled A Cry From The Heart.
The 40-year-old writes about love, sadness, teonage angst, good times written poetry since I was really quite young and a lot of these poems cover that time of my life.

"They are very much based on the emotions

"When you can't express your feelings sometimes you can put them

The unemployed security guard, of Keble favourite odes to go in the book. He added: "I was

Family Run Business Expands into Norton Canes

Discussing death is often not something many people are comfortable with, even though it is, of course, an inevitable end to each and every life.

hen a much loved friend or family member dies there is always grief and sadness, yet it is also a time for decisions to be made and plans to be agreed.

It is therefore comforting to know that there is a local, independent family run funeral home that can take care of the practicalities of arranging a funeral with all of the expertise you'd expect of professionals, yet with a great deal of sympathy and personal care.

Phillip Emery Funeral Directors opened in July 2008 on Bow Street in Rugeley, one of the main routes into the town centre, and have already gained an excellent reputation by word of mouth. It is very much a family business with father Mick and mother Gillian co-directors with Phillip, while his sister Victoria helps out on a part-time basis. They are now expanding into Norton Canes, offering a caring and personal service.

Phillip has worked in the funeral service for 17 years. He volunteered for work experience aged only 16 years. A day was soon followed by a week, and then he was taken on as an apprentice with a national collective where he gained the necessary qualifications and experience. He stayed with them for 15 years before spending a further 2 years with an independent funeral director in Stafford.

Successful

His father Mick was a well known businessman with the Emery & Burton garage on Brereton Road, Rugeley. When he retired after 30 successful years he decided to work parttime at the same funeral service where Philip was working. He gained experience and was more than ready to help out when Phillip began to talk seriously about starting his own funeral

Phillip Emery Funeral Directors is a small firm specialising in offering a personal service at what is likely to be a traumatic time for friends and family. They can take care of all the arrangements and guide you through the whole process with tact and discretion.

The premises is tastefully decorated with an office, an arranging room and a private chapel of rest. They offer a 24 hour personal service, as well as home visits at a time to suit you.

Competitive

Phillip Emery Funeral Directors offer a competitive and caring service to suit all pockets. They can arrange floral pockets. They can arrange floral tributes, monumental masonry (headstones), motorcycle or horse drawn hearses and even eco funerals, using coffins made from cardboard or wicker. They are members of the National Association of Funeral Directors (NAFD).

Funeral Prepayment Plans are a popular way to select and pay for a funeral in advance, which provide peace of mind and ease the burden on those left behind. A bit like a savings account it has the advantage of letting you pay now at today's price and therefore beating inflation.

Phillip and his family appreciate that the grieving process carries on long after the funeral is over. They welcome visits from family and friends and can offer bereavement aftercare in the form of counselling, or just a chat over a cup of tea if you drop into their office.

Death is a subject that people are uncomfortable with and Phillip and his family are more than happy to help local people to understand the process or just chat about their fears and concerns.

Family

Phillip Emery Funeral Directors is the only local independent funeral home in Rugeley, and they are now bringing their unique family service to the people of Norton canes and surrounding areas.

They understand that when someone dies it comes as a great shock, even if the death was expected, but nothing prepares you for the emotional shock of losing someone close. As funeral directors, Phillip Emery Funeral Directors are here to help and advise in any way.

CHILDREN in Burntwood swapped their uni-forms for Easter bunny costumes to mark the last day of the school term. Youngsters from Holly Grove Primary's nursery, aged three and four, enjoyed a day off from formal lessons to don Easter dress, including fluffy chick outfits.

The pupils enjoyed a picnic lunch and took part in an Easter Egg hunt. The party took place over two sessions, in the morning and afternoon, with staff also joining in the fun and games.

The school in Holly Grove Lane, Chase Terrace has been busy making plans for a party to celebrate the royal wedding. The activities will take place on April 28, the eve of the big day.

A TEAM of engineers has begun removing the tracks as the focus of the extensive work at Chasewater Dam moves to the railway causeway.

Lichfield District Council's contractors, Galliford Try, has finished removing the spoil heap and completed the reprofiling of Nine Foot Pool on the eastern dam.

Neil Turner, Lichfield District Council's director of Leisure, Parks and Play, said: "The team has now lifted the tracks from part of the railway and made a concrete working platform."

Mr Turner said the platform would enable the contractors to build the culvert through the causeway.

"We're hoping this will be finished in time for the Easter break," he said.

Children's centres hit by funding cuts blow

provide a 'Hieline service are to receive an average cut of 10 per cent in their budget.

Sure Start Children's Centres receive money each year from Staffordshire County Council.

There are seven centres in the Cannock district, but the coalition Government has removed the ring-fencing to the budget for Sure Start as well as cutting the budget.

This puts funding decisions with individual councils and council bosses have confirmed Staffordshire centres will get an average ten per cent cut this financial year – though some centres may get more or less. Charity Daycare Trust suggests that up to 86 per cent of centres nationally face budget cuts while 250 may close this year.

The Sure Start Centres across Cannock Chase are at Blackfords, Hednesford, Norton Canes, Western Springs, Churchfields, Bridgtown and Huntington.

Seven Sure Start centres in Stafford will also be affected. Fi Star-Stone, aged 36, of The Garthlands, Stafford, visits the town's main children's centre in Faraday Road weekly with son Oscar, aged six months, and 18-month-old daughter Betsy.

She said: "Children's centres rely heavily on funding and are widely used with classes only being £1 or £2.
"It would be a real shame if they could afford to fund the toys and equipment used.

Changes

Changes

"These centres are really good. Without them we would end up having a lot of mums staying at home and not doing anything."

Parents and campaign groups around the country used Mothering Sunday on April 3 to highlight opposition to planned changes by handing in a 50,000 petition at Downing Street.

County Council cabinet, member for children, young people and families Mike Lawrence, said: "There are no proposals to close any of our children's centres. While funding has had to be reviewed across all 54 centres, all will be able to deliver their core services.

"This means funding allocations differ in each individual case."

Jobs joy after takeover deal

TEN jobs are being created at a Cannock factory after a takeover deal was struck.

Exidor, based in Progress Drive, will take on the extra employees, increasing its workforce to 50.

The boost comes after Walsall casting firm Chamberlin bought the assets of Darlaston door parts manufacturer Jebron Ltd for £162,000 in February. Exidor, which supplies fire exits, is Chamberlin's subsidiary business. Twenty posts are also being created in Darlaston.

Jebron, based in Bright Street, Kings Hill, went into administration in December along with its sister firm Jebron Plating.

Chamberlin's chief executive Tim Hair said the business was going "extremely well" since the takeover. He said: "During the next six months we will move out of the site, which we have in Cannock. The jobs will move and we hope the employees will be able to stay with us."

Mr Mason has also created images of the Queen, Prince Charles and Camilla and a portrait of Kate with William, which are on display in The Art Gallery in Tetbury, Gloucestershire, – a few hundred yards from Prince of Wales' Highgrove home.

Opening innings for club extension

A £47,000 extension at a village cricket club has been officially opened in time for the new season. The annex at Hammerwich CC houses changing facilities for the club's new ladies XI squad, additional showers and disabled toilets.

The opening ceremony last Saturday (April 9) was performed by John Dutton of the Staffordshire Environmental Fund, which gave £29,000 towards the cost.

St George's dance

THE Royal British Legion's Hednesford branch is hosting a St George's Day dance.
Entertainment will be provided by Matthew James Richards, who will be performing George Formby classics on his ukulele. Female vocalist Lian Phoenix will also be performing.
In addition, there will be a raffle and a buffet at the free show which is being held at The Soldier's Club, in Anglesey Street, Hednesford, on April 23 from 7pm.

Class war proves no paradise in mini-series

John Mortimer's Paradise Postponed is a mini-series from the 1980s which was the next big project for the creator of Rumpole of the Bailey and has a cast that reads like a Who's Who? of British theatre and TV. The list of famous actors includes Sir Michael Hordern, Annette Crosbie, Zoe Wanamaker, Peter Egan, Paul Shelley

Paradise is, among other things, a chronicle of class division and centres around two families from polarised ends of the social scale, the Simcoxes who are a well-heeled vicar's of the social scale, the Simcoxes who are a well-heeled vicar's family and the working class Titmus clan. The Simcoxes are headed by left wing and socialist vicar Simeon, played by Hordern who is married to Dorothy played by Crosbie, they have two sons Henry (Egan) and Fred (Shelley) and all is well, apart from the odd controversy stirred up by Simeon's socialist sermons. However, when Simeon dies to everyone's horror or amazment his recently changed will leaves all his wealth, including shares in the local brewery, to ultra-right wing Conservative minister Leslie Titmus (Threlfall) and this sparks off events which open up a can of worms for everyone involved. His father's death forces Henry into action to contest the will and to find out why such a staunch to find out why such a staunch lefty should leave everything to someone who is anathema to everything Simeon believes, and of course to reclaim the inheritance for himself and his family.

However, as each of the characters progress through life, taking their own paths and gaining success in various professional fields, Henry an author and scriptwriter and Fred a local GP, they begin to realise, as the bunt heads towards its climax and the "reveal" with a couple of nicely added twists, how entwined their lives are.

Paradise Postponed is an raradise Postponed is an awfully British saga where every-one is incredibly civilised and dig-nified so much so that it's never sure whether it's a parody or a pastiche of the English class

THE CUBE

Some viewers may look at some of the challenge on this game show and ask themselves "So what's the big deal?" But while the tasks may look simple from the comfort of your own armchair it's an entirely different story when you're performing them in a transparent box with an audience your every move. If that wasn't enough pressure, there's also the knowledge that millions of viewers will later be watching you at home, analysing your every move thanks to the slow-motion replays and cameras that capture you from every angle. And of course, the fact there's £250,000 at stake won't help with the contestants' nerves either

LESS can be more in monster movies. In classics such as Jaws, Alien, Predator and, more recently Cloverfield, tension is built by only glimpsing the creature before the final shocking reveal.

However, British writer and director Garetin Edwards may stretch the patience of some monster movie fans before his giant tentacled jelly fish/spider/elephant ETs are finally revealed in all their otherwordly glory. The effects are, despite the movie's low budget, excellent and that is probably because of Edwards' hackground in special.

movie's low budget, excellent and that is probably because of Edwards' background in special effects and CGI animation.

Set in the near future, the Mexican-American border has become a walled-off infected zone where alien creatures who came to Earth on a Nasa probe have adopted the jungle as their home. Military jets and tanks tackle the creatures' devestating occasional incursions into the human world, captured on grainy longshot video and photos.

what makes Monsters different to the rash of recent fantasy movies using documentary style (ie Cloverfield, District 9) is that it has an almost 'art Cloverfield, District 9) is that it has an almost 'air house' sensibility, It seems more interested in the relationship between the photographer (who doesn't get to see his young soon anymore) and the rich girl (who may be running away from her finacee). There is certainly chemistry between the two leads, Scoot McNairy and Whitney Able, who have married since they completed the movie. Tension is built in the background, such as the sight of burnt out tanks and downed fighter jets, chaotic TV footage of an attack and a sombre vigil for the creatures' victims. One can read into the movie allegories for the relationship between America and its poorer neighbours.

As monster movies go, this is unusual because it is a thoughtful slowburner rather than a rollercoaster ride.

around for long, but they certainly made an impact as they took to the stage last week. They began with Under Your Thumb, which had the whole crowd singing along from the start, something that did not change throughout the night. The band is typically indie, but with its debut album called What Did You Expect From The Vaccines, what more is there to say? They played songs like Post Break Up Sex, Wrecking Bar and If You Wanna, and the fans loved every minute. It was clear they are new on the scene as their interaction with the audience was limited and the bassist, Arnie Hjorvar, had a noticeably awkward stage presence, but this did not matter as the fans were only interested in one thing – the music.

There is a lot of hype about

There is a lot of hype about the boys, and with them supporting the Arctic Monkeys in their US tour this May, it is clear they are going to be big.

Greg Davies, New Alexandra Theatre
FOR the moment Greg Davies in Theatre FOR the moment Greg Davies is probably still best known for his bit-part teacher role in Channel 4 comedy hit The Inbetweeners.

teacher role in Channel 4 comedy nit in einbetweeners. Judging on this excellent stand-up show, that won't remain the case for long. Battling through a debilitating sore throat, Davies' show consists of him regaling stories from throughout his 42 years.

Many are simple quotes or incidents which have formed his self-deprecating nature, but all seem genuine and are delivered with gusto and flawless timing.

Former teacher Davies is most at home when talking about his school days, chieffy when he was a pupil where he rakes over a succession of unfortunate but hilarious nicknames. His former students then get the treatment, as does his inexplicably grumpy dad. As you'd expect from a 6ft 8in, 20st man, there are no sub-tletles here.

But given the time and space to deliver lengthy stories and monologues, Davies is far funnier than he comes across on television, where snappy one-liners are king.

As the show's title - Firing Cheeseballs at a Dog – suggests this isn't high-brow humour but Davies could certainly teach one or two of today's generation of comics a thing or two about humility and respect.

Many comedians reduce most of their shows to crude mickey-taking of their audience members, but whenever Davies enlists the opinions of those present he does so apologetically.

The show, unlike Davies, is not particular big or clever. But it is damn funny.

The Wanted, Wolverhampton Civic Hall

LATEST boy band sensations The Wanted overcame the sound of 2,000 screaming teenaged girls to deliver a polished show in Wolverhampton on Monday night as part of their debut tour.

The crowd were nicely warmed up by power pop trio Twenty Twenty, surely no coincidence that they hit the stage at 20.20 hours (8.20pm).

As for the main event, Max, Siva, Tom, Jay and youngest member 17-year-old Nathan showed no signs of nerves despite their youth and only having been in the spotlight for a year. Backed by a good pro band with rock tendencies, the famous five made an impressive entrance following a spoof Sky News report that they were wanted for a diamond heist, though we later learn they were innocent after all.

But this set the scene for opener Behind Bars, the boys swapping vocals and going through their slick dance moves wearing oil-smeared T-shirts and studded pseudo-millitary outfits.

Lose My Mind, Weakness, Personal Soldier followed before a familiar spaghetti western theme saw the boys rock the house with Let's Get Ugly.

spaghetti western theme saw the boys rock the house with Let's Get Ugly. After a costume change, from street casual to suits, they even made a surprise appearance amidst the audience as security ushered their way back to the stage. With the cream of the UK's pop scene having written for their debut album, the succession of catchy songs with big choruses meant their 80 minute set rarely lost momentum.

New song Lightning sounded like a future hit before the lad band rounded off the night with their Comic Relief hit Gold Forever and encored with their first chart-topper All Time Low . . . sending the fans home on an all time high.

This is a not-be-missed show. Calendar Girls at Birmingham Hippodrome has everything, a line-up of stars who live up to their reputations, a script that lives up to its expectations and an uplifting storyline.

It's difficult to pick out a favourite but it's obvious that the women have as much fun performing it as the audience dwatching it. It is a rollercoaster of emotions, one minute tears as John's illness gets worse and minutes later crying with laughter from the brilliantly funny lines.

The show runs in Birmingham until Saturday but if you can't make it then it is coming to Wolverhampton's Grand

Chinese whispers of finer weather ahead

HE garden visiting season has arrived, with many owners having had a long winter to get their creations all ready for you to look at.

Biddolph Grange is a National Trust garden, which I find fascinating. It was created in Victorian times by Mr James Bateman, who wanted to take his visitors on a tour of the world without leaving his garden. Visitors can start at an English garden, with a "Cheshire Cottage", and typical English planting all round it.

When I went there was a cardiocrinum out. This is one of the biggest Lilies to flower in this country.

Then take a tunnel, which leads you out into

GARDENING WITH PAT EDWARDS

"China". China is announced by a golden bull, which eers over a wall to look at you! Moving along you enter a Chinese Temple, which is painted bright red, and overlooks a bamboo fringed pool.

All the plants here are Chinese; Acers, which have now grown into big trees, and evergreens such as Criptomerias, which are bigger than Mr James Bateman could have ever have envisaged when he planted his garden in Victorian England. From China you could take another tunnel into Egypt. This is represented by a pyramid with two lions guarding it. There is a Pinetum nearby, with many evergreen trees to see, where you can walk.

If you go later in the year you can see the restored Dahlia Walk, which is very fine, it has been replanted with a profusion of Dahlias from earlier times.

The Stumpery is a relic of Victorian gardening. There are stumps of dead trees, which are planted with a range of ferns.

They were a passion in Victorian times, there are many different types of fern here, all green, but such a variety of shapes.

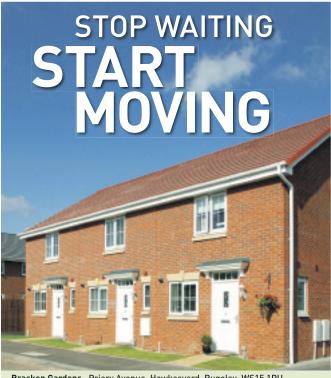

Private

If Mr Bateman could revisit his garden after nearly one hundred years he would be amazed. The house may now be private apartments, but the National Trust has done a great job to open this garden to the public again.

Question

New Aston takes no shortcuts

EETING a need may satisfy the head, but satisfying the heart is the shortest and hardest route to getting people and their money to part.

In the world of the luxury sports car this is an absolute unbreakable law: when the customer has more than £100,000 to spend, there's no scope for shortcuts or half measures.

If a car doesn't deliver spine tingles from the moment they grab the key you can consider it a lost sale.

This is the tough arena that Aston Martin has to compete in, with Italian and German rivals in plentiful supply.

Familiar

You should already be familiar with the DB9, Aston's four-seater sporting GT with looks to die for and performance to match.
Then some £60,000 above it is the DBS, based on the DB9 but with carbonfibre, more power, drama and a place at the supercar table—not forgetting a place in a secret agent's garage.

garage. Now there is something to bridge that gap –

Now there is something to bridge that gap— the Aston Martin Virage. It clearly sits in the DB9/DBS family, sharing the basic template and underpinnings of those two cars. But the Virage distinguishes itself as an evolutionary machine with some fine details.

Building on the lessons learnt and improve-ments seen in the Rapide four-door coupe, the Virage wears the piercing bi-Xenon headlights with LEDs and a slick grille inspired by the One-77 hypercar. Right around the base of the car there are aerodynamic aids that also give the car added presence and flag up its sporting intent. Subtle they may be but the effect is instant and significant: this is still one of the prettiest cars money can buy, but you can tell it wants to be driven and not just gawped at. and not just gawped at.

Under the sensuous curves the Virage takes plenty of the top-notch tech you get in the DBS, such as the rear track and final drive

Although the purists might raise an eyebrow, the reality is that most buyers plump for this

It's easy to see why: Everyday driving is breeze when the seamless transmission is making decisions for you, and when traffic stacks up and no car can be entertaining you'll be thankful for it.

Then there's the 6.0-litre V12 under the bonnet. Anyone with an automotive soul will love that engine configuration, bringing with it not only mammoth power and torque but also the promise of an engine note that is sure to

Dashboard

Dashboard
All it takes is a push of the cut-glass key into the dashboard, and the brief whirr is followed by a menacing snarl. Punch the button to select drive and the Virage will sail seenely away on the ample low-rev shove.
Within a few miles the Virage reveals yet more of the refinements that have moved the game forward for Aston Martin.
The recently revised DB9 is unquestionably a refined car, but the Virage is even more easygoing.

a retined car, but the virage is even more easy-going. Noise levels are a little more hushed, and particularly when cruising there is only a faint rush of wind and road noise to remind you of what's carrying you along. Nothing less than a firm suspension set-up would do for an Aston, but the Virage informs you of bumps in the road rather than following every inch of them.

It keeps the worst from you but you're never in doubt about the surface of the road. Driven in this manner the Virage would please many discerning buyers and demand very little from them in the process. Subtle tweaks in the cabin have improved the switchger (more cut glass), the upgraded satnay system is much easier to use and the cutility of the proferomaship is as high as ever guality of the craftsmanship is as high as ever.

But this is only half the story, and the Virage demands to be driven hard to reveal its more athletic side.

The transmission gives you the choice of sport mode for higher rev shifts or manual control activated by paddles behind the steering wheel.

The sport button also opens up the exhaust

Cynics will point and question the advan-tages over a regular DB9, but anyone lucky enough to drive DB9, Virage and DBS will appreciate just how much this moves the game on. It's the best Aston to date and as an example thoughtful

With a new bonnet, new front bumpers, new front valence and new headlamps as well as a new grille that has been detailed with chrome surrounding the traditional seven slots found on all Jeep vehicles, the new face of the Compass features a more serious, yet sophisticated, appearance. Lighting performance is improved with the use of quad reflector headlamps, and the fog lamps are now high output projector lamps.

A band of protective cladding has been added for 2011, serving to fend off debris when driving in challenging weather conditions or off-road, and providing a new
